

News Release

Accessible Training for Ladder Users

Ladderstore.com has just launched two training courses that are both accredited by the Ladder Association and fully meet the 2005 Work at Height Regulations. 'Safe Use of Ladders' is for anyone that uses a ladder in the workplace and 'Ladder Inspection' is for personnel who conduct detailed ladder inspections and audits.

All participants of the Ladderstore training courses receive a Code of Practice with a forward by the Health & Safety Executive. They also receive a Ladder Association photo ID card, valid for five years, as proof of competence.

The full day courses can be attended either at Ladderstore's training room in Bolton, or can be held by arrangement at a company's premises. Minimum number of attendees is 6, maximum 12, with individual delegate rates from £125 depending on numbers.

Visit www.ladderstore.com email training@ladderstore.com or call 01204 590232 for further details.

ENDS

July 2010

N.B. Note to Editors

Under the 2005 Work at Height Regulations employers have a duty of care to select and provide suitable work equipment for a task, to adequately inspect and maintain, and ensure that users, supervisors and management are trained and competent in the use of such equipment.

For further Ladderstore.com press information:

Julia Schurer, Prose Ltd

Tel: 01638 731446

Email: julia@proseinprint.co.uk

Twitter: @ProseinPrintPR